Launch of the translated Mandatory Written Information (MWI) booklets - email for a copy

A child's sense of identity is built through feeling connected to their family and cultures.

All adoptions facilitated in NSW are open. This means that adoptive parents, family and community will support the child to maintain family relationships and cultural connections. When a child's case plan goal is open adoption, an adoption plan is developed. The plan details the support in place for the child to maintain family relationships and cultural connections, after an adoption order is made. An adopted child's integrated post-adoption birth certificate includes the details of both their birth and adoptive family members.
